

DRAMATIS PERSONAE

Grandma
From: Idaho
Occupation: Retired
CIA Operative

Grandma may have been able to knit a tea cozy or whip up a mean pot roast, but she wasn't always a home body. Her cover story was that of a loyal secretary at the CIA, but in reality, she was working as a spy. Could her killer have wanted revenge for her Cold War antics?

Grandpa
From: Cuba
Occupation:
Landscape Artist

Grandpa met Grandma when she was working to assassinate Fidel Castro in the early 1960s. He gave up his family to flee the country with Grandma after the Bay of Pigs invasion. Maybe he was seeking a return to warmer climates... or his other family.

HOUSE AREAS

Main Floor:

Foyer
Dining Room
Living Room
Kitchen
Library

Second Floor:

Staircase
Master Bedroom
Bathroom

Outside:

Barn
Garden

WEAPONS

Egg Nog (poisoned)
Icicle (stabbed)
Red Ryder BB Gun (poked her eye out)
Christmas Lights (strangled)
Fruitcake Bomb (blown up)

Developed by
Jennifer Hills
TFPL ~ 2008

The Holiday Whodunit

It's Christmas Eve. Family and friends have gotten together to eat, drink, and be merry. That is until Grandma's dead body is discovered in the snow. She wasn't run over by a reindeer... So who did her in and how?

Your investigative team has been called in to identify the culprit, the weapon, and where the actual crime took place. Can you solve the case and put the right person behind bars?

Santa Claus
From: Russia
Occupation: Toy
Distributor & Hitman

Santa spends one month a year getting toys ready for the good boys and girls of the world. But the other eleven months, he works as a gun-for-hire. He and Grandma go way back, but could he have pocketed some cold hard cash to knock her off?

~~~~~

Martha Stewart
From: New York
Occupation:
Professional
Homemaker

Martha and Grandma met each other at the “Drop It Like It’s Hot” Potato Cook-Off twenty years ago. Grandma’s Eel-Wrapped Potato Skins just beat out Martha’s Yogurt Potato Mousse. Since then, the two have competed in nearly every cooking competition in the U.S. Could the rivalry have gone too far?

~~~~~

We Three Kings
From: Orient Are (Suburb of Baghdad)
Occupation:
Kings (duh!)

The Kings are used to getting their own way. Many times they were thwarted in their plans to rule the world because of Grandma. During the ill-fated Waterloo II campaign, Grandma’s spy network prevented the kings from attacking Pittsburgh. On this trip, could they have been packing more than gold, frankincense, and myrrh?

~~~~~

Mrs. Claus
From: Norway
Occupation: Truck
Driver

Mrs. Claus and Grandma are cousins, and have never been close. Mrs. Claus was left out of their great-Grandmother’s will, and received no land from her estate. Grandma, on the other hand, inherited a nice chunk of land. Rumor has it Grandma was thinking of making a new will to leave that land to the Twin Falls Home for Cats. Mrs. Claus was counting on an inheritance to pay the bills after retirement...

Frosty the Snowman
From: Vermont
Occupation:
Lounge Singer

Frosty was Grandma’s first love. Theirs was a torrid affair, made all the more dangerous since Frosty had an issue with heat. But after Grandma ran away with Grandpa, Frosty was heartbroken and jealous. He even wrote a hit song about their relationship called, “If I Can’t Have Her, No One Can”. Could he have taken his words too literally?

Christmas Carol
From: Nevada
Occupation:
Beautician

Carol is Grandma’s second niece twice removed, but she raised Carol during her tumultuous teenage years. The two often clashed over things like as boys, music, and hairstyles (but then Grandma’s blue-rinse clashed with everything). Could Carol have harbored a resentment all these years?